

Dr. Mark Gold

The first thing that a parent should do in trying to recognize drug use is spend time. The biggest mistake is to think that any one thing will happen — like red eyes or a runny nose. It will mostly be subtle changes.