

American Indian Anti-Meth Campaign

“Who Am I?” (Alaskan) Alaska Native Advertisement Transcript

MUSIC UP

FEMALE TEEN:

Who am I? Am I Native?
I don't want people assuming things about me.
And some kids jus' check out by doin' meth.
But then I think about my Grandfather. My little brother.
Fishing at the river. Or dog sledding.
There are lots of cool things about being who I am.
And meth is not one of them.

MALE TEEN ANNOUNCER:

Learn more at ncai.org.

A message from the Partnership for a Drug-Free America and the National Congress of American Indians.

Sponsored by ONDCP. Creative furnished by Partnership for a Drug-Free America.