

Brad

My peers helped me see the reality of it – that drugs were affecting me in a negative way. And what I didn't understand then was that I'm a drug addict who would use anything and everything, so if marijuana's not there, I'd use alcohol. What I failed to realize was that any drug was what I was addicted to ... anything that gets me away from reality.