

Mitch

It's really a key for any coach to have access to some community resources in order to help their student athletes and that resources may be the guidance counselor who can then put them in touch with other resources ... a coach needs to be able to do that and be willing to do that.